

First Nations Languages & Health Communication Symposium

12th – 13th May 2021

14th May – Workshop (by invitation)

Menzies School of Health Research

JMB Auditorium, Royal Darwin Hospital

Topics include:

- Indigenous Client-Professional Encounters
- Communication Skills Training
- Ethics and Communication
- Health Literacy
- Interpreter Mediated Healthcare Delivery
- Intercultural Communication in Health
- Media and Health Communication
- Communication in Medical Education
- Narratives of Illness Experience
- Shared Decision Making
- Tailoring Health Messages
- Communication in Telemedicine

Call for Presentations

If you would like to present at the First Nations Languages and Health Communication Symposium, please complete the following form and return to esther.miller@menzies.edu.au by 31st March 2021.

First Nations Languages & Health Communication Symposium

Expression of Interest

Name

Organisation and Role

Do you identify as

- Aboriginal
- Torres Strait Islander
- Both
- Neither
- Prefer not to say

Please identify which type of presentation would you like to give

- Research Report (15min)
- Perspective Piece (clinical/consumer experience, guidelines, other) (15min)
- Panel Discussion – please include name and position of each panel member in outline below
- Lightning Presentation (7min)

Please provide an outline of your proposed presentation (max 300 words)

Please provide details of why your proposed presentation is relevant to this symposium (max 100 words)

Please indicate if you intend to present in person or via zoom

In person

Zoom